

Highlights

- Mediation analyses were conducted to explore the contribution of lifestyle behaviours in the ethnic pattern of poor health outcomes in Leicester, England.
- In Leicester, Whites had poorer health outcomes than BMEs.
- In Leicester, poorer health outcomes were not mediated by physical activity, diet and alcohol drinking but were mediated by smoking.